RECONSTRUCTION SOUTH.

SPEECH OF ALEX. H. STEPHENS BEFORE THE GEORGIA LEGISLATURE.

His Advice to the Southern People.

Mr. Stephens has been recently elected U. S. Senator from Georgia. At the solicitation of his friends he delivered an address in Milledgeville on Washington's birth day, of which the following extracts form a part:

MR. STEPHENS COUNSELS FORBEARANCE AND PATIENCE ON THE PART OF THE SOUTH.

I know the anxiety and restlessness of the popular mind to be fully on our feet, again to walk abroad as we once did, to enjoy once more the free out-door air of heaven, with the perfect use of all our limbs. I know how trying it is to be denied representation in Congress, while we are paying our proportion of the taxes, how annoying it is to be even partially under military rule, and how injurious it is to the general interest of business of the country to be without post offices and mail communications, to say nothing of divers other matters on the long list of our present inconveniences and privations.—All these, however, we must patiently bear and endure for a season with quiet and repose; we may get well, may get once more on our feet again. One thing is certain, that bad humour, ill temper, exhibited either in restlessness or grumbling, will not hasten it. Next to this, another great duty we owe to ourselves, is the exercise of a liberal spirit of forbearance among ourselves.

HIS OPINION OF SOUTHERN LOYALTY.

Whatever may be said of the loyalty or disloyalty of any in the most lamentable conflict of arms, I think I may ventue safely to say that there was, on the part of the great mass of the people of Georgia, and of the entire South, no disloyalty to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, to that system of representative government of delegated and limited powers, that establishment in a new phase on this continent of all the essentials of England's Magna Charter, for the protection and security of life, liberty and property, with the additional recognition as a principle, as a fundamental truth, that all political powers reside in the people. With us it was simply a question as to where our allegience was due in the maintenance of these principles; which authority was paramount on the last resort, State or Federal. As for myself, I can affirm that no sentiment of disloyalty to those great principles of self-government recognized and embodied in the Constitution of the United States ever beat or throbbed in breast or heart of mine. To their maintenance my whole soul was ever enlisted, and to this end my whole life has heretofore been devoted, and will continue to be the rest of my days, God willing. In devotion to these principles, I yeild to no man living. This much I can say for myself. May I not say the same for you, and for the great mass of the people of Georgia, and for the great mass of the people of the entire South?

HIS HOPES FOR THE FUTURE.

Wars, and civil wars, especially, always menace liberty—they seldom advance it, while they usually end in its entire overthrow and destruction. Ours stopped just short of such a catastrophe. Our only alternative now, is either to give up all hopes of constitutional liberty, or retrace our steps and to look for its vindication and maintenance in the forums of reason and justice, instead of on the arena of arms; in the courts and halls of legislation, instead of on the fields of battle. I am frank and candid in setting you right, here. Our surest hopes, in my judgment of these ends, are in the restoration policy of the President. I have little hope for liberty, little hope for the success of the great American experiment of self-government, but in the success of the present efforts for the restoration of the States to their former practical relations, in a common government under the Constitution of the United States. We are without an encouraging smile on this line in the history of the mother country, in the history of our ancestors, from whom we derived, in great measure, the principles to which we are so much devoted.

May we not indulge in hope, even in the alternative before us, from the great example of restoration, if we but do as the friends of liberty there did? This is my hope—my only hope. It is founded on the virtue, intelligence and patriotism of the American people. I have not lost my faith in the people, or in their capacity for self-government. But for these great essential qualities of human nature to be brought into active and effectual exercise for their patriotick hopes, it is essential that the passions of the day should subside, that the causes of these passions should not now be discussed, that the late strife should not be stirred.

RECONSTRUCTION—THE VALIDITY OF SECESSION.

But, to proceed. Another one of our present duties is this: We should accept the issues of the war, and abide by them in good faith. This I am fully persuaded, it is your purpose to do, as well as that of your constituents. The people of Georgia have, in convention, revoked her ordinance of 1861, which was intended to sever her from the compact of union of 1787. The Constitution of the United States has been re-ordained as the organick law of our land.—Whatever difference of opinion heretofore existed as to where our allegiance was due during the late state of things, none, for any practical purpose, can exist now.

Whether Georgia, by the action of her Convention of 1866, was ever rightfully out of the Union or not, there can be no question that she is now in, so far as depends upon her will, and I deem the whole United States therefore is now, without question our country, to be cherished and defended as such by all our hearts and by all our arms. The Constitution of the United States, and the treaties and laws made in pursuance thereof, are now acknowledged to be the paramount law in this whole country.—Whoever, therefore, is true to these principles is now recognized as loyal, as far as that term has any legitimate use or force under our institutions. This is the only kind of loyalty, and the only test of loyalty that the Constitution itself requires.

HIS THEORY OF GOVERNMENT—EDUCATION OF THE BLACKS.

Governments, according to our ideas, should look to the good of the whole, and not a part only. The greatest good to the greatest number, is a favorite dogma with some. Some so defined our old system, but you know this was never my doctrine. The greatest good to all without detriment or injury to any is the true rule. Those governments only are founded upon correct principles of reason and justice which look to the greatest attainable advancement, improvement and progress, physically, intellectually and morally, of all classes and conditions within their rightful jurisdiction. Therefore, our new system should look to the best interests of all classes—their protection, security and improvement, physically, intellectually and morally. All obstacles, if there be any, should be removed, which can possibly hinder or retard the blacks to the extent of their capacity. All proper aid should be given their own efforts. Channels of education should be opened up to them; schools and the usual means of moral and intellectual training should be encouraged among them. This will dictate not only of what is right, proper and just in itself, but it is also the promptings of the highest consideration of interest. It is is difficult to conceive a greater evil or curse than could befall our country, stricken and distressed as it now is, for so large a portion of its population as this class will quite probably constitute among us hereafter, to be reared in ignorance, depravity and vice.

OUR PRESENT DUTIES—DISMAL PROSPECTS.

We have to deal with the present. Let us do our duty now, leaving results and ultimate consequences to that "divinity which shapes our ends, rough hew them how we will." In all things on this subject, as all others, let our guide be the inevitable motto of our State. Let our counsels be governed by wisdom, our measures by moderation, and our principles by justice. So much for what I have to say on this occasion touching our present duties on this absorbing subject, and some of our duties in reference to a restoration of peace and order, without which all must sooner or later end in either confusion and anarchy and despotism. I can add but little. You can form an idea of my views of that from what has already been said. Would that I could say something cheerful, but that candor which has marked all that I have said compels me to say that to me the future is far from being bright. Nay, it is dark and impenetrable; thick gloom curtains and closes in the horizon all around us.

THE NEW AND LIVING QUESTIONS OF THE DAY.

This much I can say, my only hope is in the peaceful establishment of Government and its peaceful maintenance afterward, and further, the most hopeful prospect of this age now is the restoration of the old Union, and with it the speedy return of fraternal feeling throughout its length and breadth. These results depend upon the people themselves, upon the people of the North quite as much as the South, upon their virtue, intelligence and patriotism. But for this I should long since have despaired. Dark and gloomy as the present hour is, I do not yet despair of free institutions. Let the virtue, intelligence and patriotism of the people throughout the whole country be properly appealed to, aroused and brought into action, and all may yet be well. The masses everywhere are alike equally interested in the great object. Let old issues, old questions, old differences and old feuds be regarded as fossils of another epoch. They belong to what will hereatter be considered the silurian period of our history. Great, new and living questions are before us. Let it not be said of us in this day, not yet passed, of our country's trials and agony, that there was a party for Cæsar, and a party for Pompey, and a party for Brutus, but no party for Rome, but all patriots, by whatever distinction heretofore styled, rally in all elections, everywhere, to the support of him, be he whom he may, who bears the standard with Constitution emblazoned on its folds.

THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY THE ONLY HOPE OF THE COUNTRY.

President Johnson is now, in my judgment, the chief great standard-bearer of these principles, and, in his efforts at restoration, should receive the cordial support of every well-wisher of his country. In this, consists really my only hope. Should he be sustained, and the Government restored to its former functions, all the States brought back to their practical relations under the Constitution, our situation will be greatly changed from what it was before. A radical and fundamental change, as has been stated, has been made in that organic law. We shall have lost what was known as our peculiar institution, which was so intertwined with the whole frame-work of our State body politic.—We shall have lost nearly half the accumulated capital of a century, but shall still have left the essentials of free government contained and embodied in the old Constitution, untouched and unimpaired, as they came from the hands of our fathers. With these, even if we had to begin entirely anew, the prospect before us would be much more encouraging than the prospect before them when they fled from the oppressors of the Old World and sought shelter and homes in this then wilderness land.

BONE MANURE.
WARRANTED GENUINE.

BEING MADE OF THE BEST MATERIAL AND in the most approved manner, it is recommended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise, and those engaged in its manufacture will continue their best endeavors to advance the high reputation which it has acquired.

We guarantee the Phosphate to be well manufactured, and recommend it in preference to any other artificial manure in the market. We consider it nearly equal to the best Peruvian Guano, although furnished at half the price.

Messrs D H. Allen & Co., the well known manufacturers of agricultural implements, say of it:

"We take pleasure in stating that we have sold E. F Coe's super Phosphate of Lime for four years.—It has given universal satisfaction to our customers. We most cheerfully endorse it as an article worthy of the confidence of the public, as the purchaser may rely upon securing an article honestly and carefully manufactured.

"We would state that, after careful examination, we believe this Phosphate has been improved each year since its introduction in this market, and that it will continue to maintain its present high standing. "Very respectfully,

"R. H. ALLEN & CO.,

The Cry for Blood.

The desire for blood every humane man thinks, ought to have been fully satiated by the immense slaughter of the late war. No record, in so short a space, will be greater than the sacrifices of that cruel, fratricidal contest.

It is time that its hate, its revenge, its bitter feeling, were all merged in the common desire for peace and Union. Humanity, a common brotherhood and christianity, call aloud for the cessation of strife, of crimination, and violence. Every suggestion which tends to harmonize the country—to bring the people North and South to understand each other, we most heartily endorse. Hence we deprecate the unkind spirit, which characterises some of the presses and people of the country.

A city cotemporary the other day in noticing the trial of Maj. Gee, uttered the following sentiment:

"Let justice be done. But would it not be well to set a larger hook so as to catch some of the big fish? It seems hard to punish the instruments, while the wicked authors of the rebellion and its cruelties are allowed to go unpunished."

We are for justice; but such justice as poor human nature needs; justice mingled with mercy—justice which condemns the wrong but pardons the guilt. What poor sinner wants justice—sheer and inexorable justice in his own case.

The same spirit characterises, we are sorry to say, the leader of our neighbor, the Standard, yesterday, in noticing a paragraph of the Watchman of New York, edited by Rev. Dr. Deems. The Watchman alluding to Mr. Jeff. Davis, expressed the opinion that if tried, it would be before a civil Court, and that such a court would not convict him of "treason," and if convicted, he would be pardoned by the President, believing that the President was pledged to pardon him. We make no defence of the correctness of the Watchman's opinions. Dr. Deems is fully able to defend what he says, but if shown to be in error he will correct it. But what we regret and object to is, the spirit—the bloody spirit the Standard still evinces, and the assault made upon Dr. Deems and his paper.—Dr. Deems is not a secessionist—we believe he never was, though he warmly sympathised with the South after she entered the contest, just as the editor of the Standard did. Nor does Dr. Deems publish a secession paper. We defy the Standard to prove by any quotation from the Watchman, that Dr. Deems advocates or defends the right of a State to secede.

There are many persons in the South and there are many in the North, who formerly taught the doctrine, as the Standard did, that a State had the right to secede. But the war has blown that untenable and unconstitutional doctrine to the winds, and now we know of no advocates and defenders of the doctrine any where, except the Radicals, who hold that secession was accomplished by the late war.

If the Standard desired to correct the teachings of the Watchman on the subject of treason, there was a way to do it, without making an unwarranted attack upon that paper and its editor, for the purpose of giving it a bad name.—The Standard knows that secession is in bad odor, and in no way could it so effectually injure its circulation as to impress the public mind North and South, that it was an "excellent secession" paper. Every reader of the Watchman, however, is prepared to meet the charge with a flat denial, from its actual perusal.

If Dr. Deems, however, wants the support of the Standard's testimony in favor of his opinion, that Mr. Davis could not be convicted of treason before a civil Court, he can find, if our memory is not at fault, the same doctrine taught in the old files of that paper.

We have said this much, simply for the reason, that the editor of the Watchman is absent from the State, and cannot himself correct the injury which might be inflicted upon his enterprise, at once.

Gov. Vance.

We were glad to shake the hands of our friend, Gov. Vance, on yesterday, who came down upon the summons of the Judge Advocate as a witness in the case of Maj. Gee. We were pleased to find him improving rapidly from his late attack, and that it was in fact very slight. The attack was simply facial paralysis, affecting the left cheek and eye, from which his physicians consider he will soon entirely recover.

The Late Wm. J. Bingham.

We record with regret the death of Wm. J. Bingham, Esq., of Oaks, Orange Co., who departed this life on the 19th inst. This announcement will cause deep sorrow among his numerous students now scattered all over the South. He was one of the most indefatigable and successful teachers of the South. His learning was thorough, and it is be regretted that his large experience was not given to the public in the form of a series of school books. His Latin Grammar affords evidence of his rare qualifications. For some months the pressure and misfortunes of the war greatly depressed and somewhat affected his mind. But he is safely released from the cares and troubles of life. We refer the reader to a fuller notice of the deceased which renders further remark from us unnecessary.

The Common Schools.

Few disasters have occurred to the State more afflicting, than would be the suspension of our Common School system. We regard it as the chief lever to up-raise our low-down condition, and to place North Carolina fully upon her feet again. Few subjects have troubled us more than this, and we have anxiously waited for the inauguration of some plan, which would excite a reasonable hope, that something efficient could be done for their sustenation. We grant that no plan has been submitted, which we thought feasible. We are satisfied that Senators in the debate on yesterday, presented correctly the general feeling on the subject of taxing the people to keep up the schools; yet among the intelligent and thoughtful portion of the community there is everywhere a purpose to keep up schools of some kind.

If, therefore, it be the purpose of the Legislature to abolish the offices of Superintendent and Treasurer, the former of which we should regret, why not adopt Mr. Cowles' amendment, leaving the system otherwise untouched, and empower the Literary Board to adopt such arrangements in conjunction with the people in the School Districts of the several counties, as they are satisfied can be done without risk to the Fund, so as to afford all the encouragement and assistance possible, in keeping up as many of the Schools as possible.

It strikes us that some such arrangement might be made by the voluntary contributions of the people, to keep up a large number of the Schools. This plan could be made far more efficient by the continuance of the Superintendent of Common Schools, by visiting as much as possible the several counties, whose necessary salary and expenses, might be all that would be needed from the School Fund at present.—Activity on the part of the Superintendent, giving information as to teachers, addressing the people and keeping the public mind alive to the necessity of schools in every neighborhood, would do good.

We beg the Legislature to ponder well the step, of suspending and withdrawing the hand of the State entirely from the Common School interest. It is the next thing to their utter destruction. If nothing better can be done, we beg them to ponder the above suggestion.

Superintendent of Common Schools.

At the risk of provoking the ire of our friend, the Senator from Beaufort, we must say, that whatever of efficiency, of public interest in, of real success, which may be awarded to the Common School system of North Carolina, all of it is due to the indefatigable labors, the untiring energy and the unwonted enthusiasm of that excellent gentleman and citizen, Rev. C. H. Wiley, the present Superintendent of Common Schools. There may be others who might have done better, and others may come after him who may do better, but we apprehend there are few, who could have taken things from the stump, and grubbed as tough a piece of ground as he had to do, in removing the prejudices against the system, and to have reaped such a harvest of good to the State, as he has done.

The simple fact that Mr. Wiley's report on Swamp Lands is incorrect in many particulars, that his premises are unsound and his conclusions unsafe, we respectfully submit to our friend, the Senator from Beaufort, does not justify the conclusions of the Senator nor does he merit the strictures inflicted upon him. How many men in North Carolina know much about our Swamp Lands, who were not bred, if not born among them. We have met with fewer men who knew something about them, than almost any other matter of State interest. The Senator knows that engineers, surveyors, committees and others appointed to attend to Swamp Lands have all blundered about them. Few, very few have the knowledge that the Senator from Beaufort has upon that subject. And if the Superintendent of Common Schools has erred in the matter, he is in company with many others of the highest intelligence.

Again, we submit to the Senator, the question under consideration, was not the continuance of the officer, but of the office. If Mr. Wiley's report had been under consideration or if he had been a candidate for re-election, the remarks of our friend, the Senator from Beaufort, would have been legitimate and proper. We deeply regret, therefore, that a gentleman, who has such strong claims upon the consideration of the State, and who is universally respected as a gentleman, a scholar and a christian, should be the object of attack, when his own merits were not at all involved in the question before the Senate.

Robt. W. Chadwick has been appointed, and confirmed by the Senate, Collector of the Customs at Ocracoke, N. C.

The tone of the press of the country on the veto message and the President's speech shows how completely the old Republican party is disrupted on the issues raised by the Radical Congress. Of all the daily press of this city only the "Tribune" has taken ground against the President. That one paper cannot by any possibility represent more than fifteen thousand voters out of the one hundred and fifty thousand in this metripolitan district. The Cincinnati "Commercial," the ablest Republican paper in the West, stands by the President; so does the Chicago "Journal," the Buffalo "Advertiser," the Syracuse "Standard," the Hartford "Courant," the Auburn "Advertiser," the Albany "Journal," and about one-third, we should judge, of the other Republican papers throughout the country. It is very evident, as Saml. Bowles telegraphed to the Springfield Republican from Washington, that the Republican party is "hopelessly disrupted."—New York World.

RELIGIOUS MEETINGS.—Interesting meetings have been held for the past two weeks in the Court Street Baptist Church, Portsmouth, now under the popular pastoral care of the Rev. John L. Johnson. The pastor has been assisted by the Revs. Messrs. Pritchard of Petersburg, and Hume and Dobbs, of Portsmouth. Quite a number have professed conversion, and united with the church. The Rev. Mr. Pritchard will probably preach every night during the present week.—Nor. Virginian.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

SENATE.

(EVENING SESSION.)

Feb. 27.

The Senate was called to order at 7½ o'clock.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

Bill to establish a Penitentiary introduced by Mr. Gash, on its second reading was taken up. Mr. Gash supported the bill, urging its necessity &c. The question being taken the bill was rejected.

The bill to restore jury trials to County Courts in criminal cases, passed its second reading, and on motion of Mr. McLean, the rules were suspended and it passed its third reading.

Bill to regulate the issuing of Executions by the Courts and by Justices of the Peace, came up on its second reading and was rejected.

On motion of Mr. Wiggins, the bill relating to Superintendent of Common Schools and for other purposes, was taken from the table and placed on the calendar.

Bill to authorize the arbitration of disputes by consent of parties. On motion of Mr. Harris of Rutherford was laid on the table.

Bill to re-enact sec. 4, chap.102, of the Revised Code, passed its second reading. On motion of Mr. Leitch the rules were suspended, and the bill passed its third reading.

A bill to consolidate the North Carolina and North Carolina and Atlantic Rail Road Companies so as to constitute one Company, to be styled the North Carolina Rail Road Company came up.

Mr. Hall opposed the passage of the bill warmly, mainly upon the ground that such a union would severely injure the Wilmington and Weldon Rail Road and the interests of Wilmington.

Mr. Wiggins was a friend to the Wilmington and Weldon Rail Road, but could not see how any injury could be done the people of Wilmington by the passage of the bill.

Mr. Carter thought the consolidation should be made. Instead of a disadvantage it would be of decided advantage, to the State, in order to compete with the Piedmont Rail Road. We should have them connected and run entirely from Asheville to Morehead City. It would lessen the expense of transportation to the merchant and planter, and give the choice of another market besides Richmond.

Mr. Arendell urged the passage of the bill for the same reasons.

On motion of Mr. Harris, of Rutherford, the bill was made the special order for Thursday next.

On motion of Mr. Carter, the Senate adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

SENATE.

WEDNSDAY MORNING Feb. 28.

Senate was called to order at 10 o'clock A. M.

Prayer by the Rev. Mr. Hardie.

Mr. Hall introduced a memorial and counter memorial from citizens of New Hanover County in reference to the fees for the inspection of Turpentine and Tar and guaging of Spirits, which was referred to the the committee on Propositions and Grevicences.

REPORT FROM SELECT AND STANDING COMMITTEES.

Mr. Bynum from the committee on the Judiciary to whom was referred a resolution concerning the property of wards, asked to be discharged from its further consideration. Resolutions concerning the provisions of an act concerning the Statute of Limitations asking to be discharged from its further consideration. [The matter of said resolution having been embodied in an act already passed at the present session of the General Assembly.]

Resolution in regard to the propriety of designating all freedmen and persons of color by the one name of free negroes, ask to be discharged from its further consideration. [The matter involved being before the General Assembly in bills now pending.]

Resolution in reference to the legal liabilities of administrators and guardians, arising out of the depreciated currency in their hands, asked to be discharged from its further consideration. Resolution concerning what laws of the State are in force or ought to be repealed, ask to be discharged from its further consideration. (As the subject matter is already in the hands of a committee to carry into effect the substance of this resolution.) Bill to extend the operations of an ordinance appointing a Judge to determine State claims to property, recommending its passage. Bill to extend the terms of office of certain county officers recommending its passage.

Mr. McKay, from the same committee to whom was referred a bill to incorporate the Mining, Manufacturing and Improvement Company, recommending that it do not pass.

Bill to incorporate the American Industrial Agency, with a recommendation unfavorable to its passage.

Mr. Wilson, from the same, reported back the bill to enable Sheriffs and tax collectors to collect arrears of taxes for the year 1864, with an amendment recommending its passage.

Mr. Cowles, from the Committee on Claims, to whom was referred a petition from the Cherokee Indians, reported back the same by resolution favorable to said Indians, recommending its passage; on his motion the rules were suspended, and passed its third reading.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Mr. Jones of Wake, introduced a bill to amend the charter of the city of Raleigh. Referred to the committee on corporations.

Mr. Hall introduced a bill to incorporate the Yadkin and Cape Fear Canal Company. [The object of said bill is to construct a canal from the Yadkin river, between the narrows and the North Carolina Rail Road bridge, and flowing to the Cape Fear River at some point on the Deep River, above the town of Haywood, which was referred to the Committee on Corporations.]

RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Hall introduced a resolution in favor of S. R. Bunting, late Sheriff of New Hanover, referred to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. Covington, a resolution to defray the expense incurred by such persons as are entitled to artificial limbs who had supplied themselves before the passage of the bill furnishing them at the expense of the State. On motion of Mr. Carter, the rules were suspended and it passed its third reading.

Mr. Bynum introduced a series of resolutions to wit:

1st. Resolved by this General Assembly of the State, That the people North Carolina hold in just abhorrence the doctrine of the repudiation of her constitutional debts and obligations.

2nd. Resolved, That the desolation of her territory and the destruction of taxable property, render it unwise, at this time, to increase her indebtedness and impose new and onerous burdons upon her people.

3rd. Resolved, That by the impoverishment and destitution of her people, and the want of a currency, they cannot now bear the taxation necessary to pay the interest of the State debt.

4th. Resolved, That the scheme now proposed of compounding the debts of the State, by converting the interest into principal bearing new interest, as it proves fatal to the individual, may prove fatal to the State, and will endanger the ultimate payment of her debts.

5th. Resolved, That the State of North Carolina hereby pledges her faith, never yet tarnished, by dishonor, to discharge her debts to the last farthing, and to resume their payment at the earliest practicable moment. The resolutions were read and ordered to be printed.

The bill to abolish the offices of Superintendent and Treasurer of the Literary Fund, being under consideration,

Mr. Wiggins stated that it was inexpedient and impossible to keep up the Common School system complete, at the present time, and he was in favor of abolishing the offices and placing the funds in the custody of the Public Treasurer.

Mr. Shober thought it must be apparent to every one, that our Common School system had accomplished great good. Its moral and intellectual benefits had been incalculable. He regarded any purpose to suspend the system as tantamount to its destruction. He was therefore opposed to the bill. If ever there was a time when the system was needed, it was needed now. Many of our people are dependent upon it for the education of their children, and many have engaged as teachers, who will be forced out of the profession by persons from abroad, who if this system goes down would supercede them in establishing other schools. It was so serious a matter, he deprecated hasty action.—He thought they should be kept up, if the State had to issue certificates of indebtedness.

Mr. Gash would favor the keeping up of the Schools if he saw any possible chance to do it. But the people were not able to bear the tax at present. He was not opposed to any officer connected with the system, though his own county had not been much benefited by them.

Mr. Covington thought the people could not sustain them at present. Moreover, under existing circumstances, the Freedmen's Bureau might force colored children into them, to which our people would never consent. For the present, therefore, he was in favor of abolishing the offices and suspending the system temporarily.

Mr. Ferebee was utterly opposed to the bill. No other Southern State had abandoned their school system. South Carolina had actually borrowed money to sustain her schools. No State had received greater benefits from the system than North Carolina. He thought it was one of the last things the State should abandon. Every effort should be made, every nerve strained to keep them up. He paid a high compliment to the Superintendent of Common Schools.

Mr. Carter was in favor of recommitting the bill, but if action was to be taken upon it, he should favor the bill. He was not opposed to the system, but he was opposed to the continuance of an officer who had made such a report, as the present incumbent had done, upon the swamp lands of the State. Mr. Carter was severe upon that officer, and directed his chief support of the bill against him.

Mr. Cowles offered a substitute for the bill, providing simply to abolish the office of Superintendent and Treasurer, leaving the law, regulating the system, as it is.

Mr. Wilson offered an amendment to the amendment, providing for the appointment of all necessary officers by the Literary Board. He was in favor of continuing the office of Superintendent, but thought the Treasurer might be dispensed with.

Mr. Jones, of Columbus, hoped the amendment would not prevail. He thought the system could not be kept up at present, but if it was, he preferred the present Superintendent of Common Schools to any man in the State. Under the circumstances however, he should support the bill.

Mr. Carter hoped Mr. Wilson's amendment would not be adopted. He was in favor of a vote. He thought the eulogy of the Senator from Columbus, upon the Superintendent was entirely unmerited.

Mr. Pitchford was in favor of the bill for the reason, that he was satisfied the people were neither able nor willing to pay the tax necessary to sustain the Schools.

The hour of adjournment having arrived, the bill known as the "stay law" being the special order for to-day, was postponed and made the special order for the night session.

Whereupon, the Speaker adjourned the Senate till 7½ o'clock, P. M.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 28.

The House was called to order at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Hardie, of the Presbyterian Church.

The Journal of yesterday was read and approved.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

By Mr. Shaw, a bill to enable the Fayetteville and Florence Railroad Company to establish a National Bank in the town of Fayetteville.

By Mr. Caldwell, a bill to amend the act incorporating the Trustees of Greensboro' Female College.

Mr. York introduced a resolution that from and after to-day the House hold evening sessions, meeting at 7 o'clock, P. M. Lies over one day under rule.

ON CALENDAR.

The following engrossed bills and resolutions passed their several readings under a suspension of the rules, viz: a resolution in favor of Chas. Keuster and Brother; a resolution in favor of R. W. Best, and a bill to outlaw felons who flee from justice.

A bill for the relief of Sheriffs and Tax Collectors, was indefinitely postponed, on motion of Mr. Henry, on its third reading—the Speaker giving the casting vote, yeas 50, nays 49.

A bill to provide for the collection of taxes for 1865, in counties where no Sheriff or other officer was qualified under the revenue ordinance of the Convention, and a bill to amend the 4th section, of chapter 35, revised code—in relation to fugitives from justice—passed their 2nd and 3rd reading.

Mr. Blackmer, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill regulating fees in the Supreme Court, which had its first reading and was placed on the calendar.

Mr. Dickey entered a motion (to be called up hereafter) to reconsider the vote by which the "bill for the relief of Sheriffs and Tax Collectors," was indefinitely postponed this morning.

The House then proceeded to consider the unfinished business, viz: a bill entitled "Revenue."

The bill after slight amendment and much discussion, passed its 2nd reading, and the House adjourned until 10 o'clock, A. M., tomorrow.

(On Monday when the vote was taken on Mr. Donnell's motion to lay on the table "the bill to authorize a reference of disputes by the consent of parties," Mr. Simmons voted in the affirmative. His name was omitted inadvertently in the report of yeas and nays.)

STATESVILLE AMERICAN.—This paper comes to us in a new dress, and much enlarged and improved. It presents quite a handsome appearance. We wish it success.

The next session of Randolph Macon College will open on the 7th of March. For particulars address Rev. William A. Smith, Boydton, Va.

IN MEMORIAM.

The late WILLIAM JAMES BINGHAM was born at Chapel Hill N. C., April 19th, 1802, while his father, Rev. Wm. Bingham, was Professor of Languages in the University. His boyhood was mostly spent at Mt. Repose in Orange county, where his father conducted one of the earliest and most widely known classical schools in the State—at one time the only classical school in the State, except that of Rev. David Caldwell, D. D., in Guilford. After his graduation with the highest honors of the University in 1825, he commenced the study of law with Judge Murphy, but the sudden death of his father called him into the Academy to finish an unexpired term. His circumstance determined his profession. Upon the expiration of the session at Mt. Repose, he was invited to Hillsboro', where he taught with eminent success for eighteen years. Urged on by the determination never to forfeit the confidence which a generous public had transferred from his father to himself, and by a natural enthusiasm which permitted him to do nothing by halves, he devoted to his work all the energies of an active mind and a vigorous body, and when he removed to the country in 1844, he had won a reputation in North Carolina and throughout the South second to that of no other teacher.

He taught at Oaks for twenty years, with the exception of eighteen months of the years 1855 and 1856, during which ill health compelled him to suspend.

Worn out by incessant toil, for nearly forty years, in a most arduous profession, he was obliged, by increasing physical infirmity, to retire from the school-room in January, 1864; and his health steadily declined till, on the 19th February, 1866, he passed peacefully and happily to the rest that remains for the people of God.

As citizen, parent, teacher, church officer, William M. Bingham did his whole duty. His eminent success as an instructor of boys was owing as much to his enthusiasm and vivacity with which he imparted instruction, as to his thorough scholarship. His patience was as indomitable as his perseverance and many an older remembers the Saturday discipline of "mahogany," with repeated recitations from morning till night. A strict disciplinarian, he never punished in anger; and his success in winning the hearts of his boys may be judged from the fact that during his latter years his school was largely composed of the children of his old pupils. To enthusiastic zeal in his profession he added unswerving integrity, indomitable energy, unostentatious liberality, and fervent piety. The labors and the example of such a man are a blessing to the generation in which he lives, and his place, when he is gone, can with difficulty be supplied.

A CARD.

THE Philanthropic Society of the University of North Carolina is anxious to have a record of the names, and, as far as is possible, of the histories also, of its members who were slain in the recent war. They may be counted by hundreds, and their blood has stained the field of every battle from Manassas to Bentonsville. Of these brave and noble men, who freely offered their young lives for the cause of their country, there should be some enduring memorial. We owe it to them, and we owe it no less to ourselves, and to those who shall come after us. Their eminent patriotism should not be forgotten, nor should the worthiness of their example be lost to their successors.

The Society has thought that its archives are a most fit place of deposit for such memorials, where they are sure to meet with reverent care and are most likely to be long preserved, and to be of the highest service to our young men hereafter.

It has therefore directed this appeal to be made to the kindred and friends of those, its members, who perished in the late war, and to all who may be able to render such service, that they would send to the Society such memorials as may be had of their lives and of their death. It desires to form a complete catalogue of those whom it has lost, with biographical sketches, at full as may be, of them all; or, in default of such sketches, accounts of separate acts of virtue and daring.

Besides such memoranda, it will gladly receive any personal memorials of its deceased members, their autographs, accoutrements they wore, &c., &c. All will be duly arranged here, and carefully preserved, in honor of the dead and to the use of the living for many generations; and it is believed that no where else will the memory of our departed brethren be cherished longer, or with more pensive veneration. And now, that the late war is over; now that the last four years of bloodshed, destitution and distress have passed; now that we have resumed our former connection with the Federal government in true faith, and with honest intentions, the incidents and acts connected with the war's history are fast being effaced from the hearts and memory of the people for whom they were performed. The Society, believing that in a country where every law breathes independence and equality, acts of worth should be perpetuated, views this fact with the deepest concern: it has, therefore, appointed its Library to be a receptacle for trophies commematory of the war, and requests contributions from her friends throughout the State. It should be a source of congratulation to the authors that their illustrious acts are not forgotten, and of pride to the country, that she is worthy of them; and equally the duty of both that they be fitly honored.

All communications made, and articles sent, should be directed to "Philanthropic Society, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill," with the name of the donor, and an appropriate description accompanying each article. All expenses connected with the sending of such articles, will be defrayed by the Society.

Common Schools.

"North Carolina" presents to-day a strong appeal to foster the Common Schools of the State. We ask attention to his article. Our space prevents our backing up the subject.

Washington Rumors.

The correspondent of the Richmond Times, says:

Within an hour after the President had concluded his speech, on Thursday last, a systematic organization was formed, by representatives of the Radical press, for the purpose of misrepresenting Mr. Johnson and the circumstances under which the speech was delivered. Dispatches were sent off, especially to the West and Northwest, stating, among other things, that the President, upon coming from the Executive mansion to address the immense crowd, was "supported upon either side by the late counsel of Mrs. Surratt;" that "the meeting was composed almost entirely of returned rebels;" that "frequent shouts for Jeff. Davis were heard;" that "the President, whilst making his speech, was intoxicated," etc. These other statements too indecent for repetition, were gotten up and sent off for the purpose of belittling Mr. Johnson, and in order to destroy the force and effect of his powerful speech.

I need scarcely add that the quoted reports are lies out of the whole cloth. Forney ("D. D.") joins the herd in besmearing the President, and endeavors to show by mere assertion that the Government controlled the telegraphic wires on Thursday night, and prevented the transmission of copies of the speech to certain journals, North and West. Not one word of the statement of these villifiers of Mr. Johnson is true.

CABINET CHANGES.

Apropos to Cabinet changes is the well authenticated report that General Steedman has been telegraphed to come to Washington for conference with the President. It is also true that a strong out-side pressure is being made for the appointment of General Frank P. Blair as Secretary of War.

MR. SEWARDS ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

Mr. Seward's speech before the Cooper Institute meeting is invested with additional interest and significance by the fact of his receiving two or three dispatches from Senator Nye, and others in this city, stating that the President had made a terrible speech—one that he could not possibly approve of or endorse and one that must inevitably break up the Republican party. Mr. Seward was not deterred, however, and on learning what the President had said, telegraphed a full and cordial approval.

REPUBLICAN REVOLT AGAINST STEVENS.

There are a large number of Republicans who are dissatisfied with Thad. Stevens as a leader, and who have expressed a willingness to try and see if some plan of adjustment cannot be arranged. They do not like the look of things, and their anathemas are loud and deep against the men who have led them.

PUBLIC OPINION.—From all parts of the North letters are pouring in to Mr. Johnson approving his veto of the Freedmen's Bureau bill, and thanking him for taking down the arch disorganizers and disunionists, Stevens, Sumner & Co.

Much to the surprise of some of the rampant Republican members of Congress, who expected the universal approval of their constituencies in their abuse of and opposition to the President, letters are coming to them from the most prominent citizens, cautioning them against further opposition to the President, whose recent action, they say, upon sober second thought, is endorsed by the people, and they will overwhelmingly sustain him.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT CONCERNING ASSIGNMENTS.

The following bill offered by Mr. Jenkins of Warren, has passed the House.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, as follows, Assignments may be made by debtors in this State, providing for an equal distribution of their estate, real and personal, among such of their creditors as after notice as herein provided, shall become parties to said assignments in proportion to the amount of their respective claims, excepting such property of said debtors as may be by law exempt from execution; and in all such assignments, the assigner or assigners may insert a provision for the release or surrender of the residue of any debt, which upon the application of the person to whom the same is due, shall share in the distribution of the assets so as aforesaid assigned and that no other creditor shall be entitled to any part thereof.

SEC. 2. The assignee or assignees of such debtors, making an assignment under the provisions of this act, shall, within one month after said assignment has been proved and registered, give public notice in some public newspaper, printed at the city of Raleigh, and in the county in which one or more of the assigners, reside, if there be any published in the county, and if not, at the court house door of the county allowing six months therefrom or more, within which creditors may become parties to said assignment.

SEC. 3. Creditors shall be made and become parties to such assignment by filing their claims, or some evidence thereof, with such assignee, in writing, and the same shall thereby be deemed to elect to take the benefit of the provisions of said assignment on condition of release or surrender of all further claims in respect of their demand.

SEC. 4. All provisions of law, inconsistent with this act are repealed, and this act shall be in force from its ratification.

MOSSES FROM A ROLLING STONE—By Tenella. From the house of Messrs. W. B. Smith & Co. has just been issued this volume of poems, by Mrs. Clarke, of North Carolina. The authoress has talent, and many of the productions in this collection are musical and pleasing. The book is gotten up in handsome style—is well printed on fine paper, and beautifully bound, reflecting credit on the enterprising firm who thus far, we believe, are alone in their work in the South.—*Pet. Common Schools—An Important Movement.

At a meeting of the National Association of Superintendents of Common Schools, just held in Washington City, the following resolution was unanimously passed, to wit:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Association, the establishment of systems of Common Schools, in the Southern States, will do much to harmonize their relations to the other States of the Union, and that there is no other plan by which they can more readily and certainly secure the development of their great material resources.

This action or resolution is not an attempt at dictation, but the mere expression of an opinion by a body of intelligent men, gathered from all parts, Maryland included, and having no immediate connection with party politics. Our first duty is to ourselves; and when a course of action is clearly important to our honor and our interests, it is becoming in us to listen to opinions in the same direction, from other sources.

It is unnecessary to argue the advantages of popular instruction; how needs any one to be told that the intelligent and virtuous laborer is now king. Our former systems of labor, performed by the ignorant, but directed by the educated, is broken up,—we have no money, and all that we have left is useless without skilled and hopeful labor. We have genial skies, fat soils, and vast mineral resources; what we now need is a virtuous yeomanry, attached to the State, and causing her broad surface to teem with the productions which she will bountifully yield to the hand of intelligent industry. It requires but a shallow statesman to see that our great necessity now is) energetic labor—and what, like Common Schools, so readily reaches the popular mind with light and hope, and awakens life and public spirit wherever man lives and toils? By what other means can we so easily infuse a homogeneous spirit into the masses, and so certainly build up State pride, and hedge in the country with the love of home? By such means, and such alone, can a crippled State, open to every moral disease, in danger of being depleted by the emigration of her own people, and torn by foreign influences, rally her energies anew, compact her powers, infuse a healthy genius into the masses, filling the public mind with just ideas, and protecting it from an invasion of destructive isms.

The poorer we are the more the necessity for such a system of State instruction; and while we are so manifestly dependent on self-respecting labor, let us not insult and try to degrade it by county and pauper systems which presuppose a people without spirit, and a burden to the body politic. Such a course will but give new power to those who would teach our poor to hate us, and make a gulph between classes of society. Our people should be made to feel that their own State is their best friend; and if they are respected by it, they will respect themselves, and regard the interests and honor of every rank as inseperably linked together.

And here, Messrs. Editors, permit me to recur very briefly to a great lesson of the past. Our State Constitution, formed in the midst of the old revolution, enjoined it on the Legislature to establish a University and system of Common Schools.

An institution of the former kind, was founded at an early day; the latter part of the constitutional requirement was carried out some forty or fifty years afterwards. Up to the year 1840, we had an educated gentry, a noble race, but what else? Our masses were the most illiterate in the Union: there was little public spirit, there were bitter and destructive local jealousies, there were few improvements, and there was a constant stream of immigration, carrying our life-blood from us. Every plantation was for sale—our best men were neglected, there were foolish prejudices against educated leaders; we had few seminaries, and the University was a third or fourth rate institution, of the kind never numbering over one hundred and fifty students. We had no authors, no love of home, and let ourselves dritt in the rear of all the other States, and wore complacently the name of Rip Van Winkle. In 1840 the constitutional provision referred to, was fully complied with; and lo the result! The University becomes a first class institution, and its high water mark advances from 150 to 450—our Male colleges are doubled, our Seminaries and High Schools quadrupled, and all are better sustained than formerly, and our primary schools and the attendance on them are multiplied fully five times.

Every species of interest feels a new and mighty impulse—the East and West shake hands, and the counties are united into a State, the people feel themselves to be one and indivisible. The whole world sees and wonders at our progress; we manifest every sign of a new and more conservative and vigorous life, and when war overtakes us for the first time in our history, we send to the field a soldiery worthy of any leader. In peace and war we demonstrated that we had a people, a virtuous, self-respecting, high-strung people: in peace and war, this people have done more since 1840 to give the State a high name in history, than had been accomplished in all our former career. And now the University has just been, as it were, re-endowed: the State has recognized its duty to sustain this institution, and at the same time the Common Schools ask permission to sustain themselves. Will the past be forgotten? Will we again try to build a State out of leaders alone? Will we forget that our educated gentry are out of place where there is not an educated people, and will, therefore, only be trained for usefulness and honor in other States?—Will the requirements of the constitution be filled by establishing a University and pauper schools? What a gap between!

Messrs. Editors, we want a people, a thriving, industrious yeomanry, whose homes shall be lighted up with knowledge, whose hearts shall be instinct with love of North Carolina, and each of whom shall feel that the honor and in the interests of the State are his. We have the elements of a great race here; let the State foster and develope its intellectual and moral capabilities, and this glorious old land will blossom with prosperity, and forget the trials of this day of darkness. Is not all this literal truth? NORTH CAROLINA.

WHAT DO THEY MEAN?—Dr. Cheever, in the prayer he delivered before his usual Sunday political harangue last evening, besought God Almighty that, in case our rulers (meaning the President and his supporters,) "should persist in their present career of wickedness, and refuse to do unto others as they should be done by, He (God) would take them out of the way." What did Cheever mean?

Wendell Phillips, who made a speech in Brooklyn recently to prove the President a rebel and a traitor, in the same address spoke significantly of Mr. Johnson as "an obstacle to be removed." What did Phillips mean?

Thad. Stevens, in open Congress, declared that, if the "man at the other end of the avenue" had his deserts, he would lose his head like Charles the First. What did Stevens mean?—N. Y. World.

John H. McLaughlin, Esq., has been appointed by his Honor, Judge Mitchell, Clerk and Master in Equity for Iredell county, in place of W. P. Caldwell, elected Solicitor of the Sixth Circuit, vice L. Q. Sharpe, deceased.—Statesville American.

Congress.

WASHINGTON Feb. 28.

HOUSE.—The House, by a large majority, postponed till second Tuesday in April, the constitutional amendment, giving Congress the power to make all necessary laws to secure to the citizens of the several States, and to all persons in the States equal protection in the right of life, liberty and property. The Republicans are disagreed among themselves as to what will be the effect of this, and therefore postponed this part of the work of the Committee on Reconstruction, with a poor show of its ultimate passage.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.

The indications are that the Committee on Reconstruction will soon make a report in favor of the admission of members of Congress from the State of Tennessee.

Kenneth Haynes, Esq. Clerk of Columbus County Court, writes [April 2, 1853:] "During the latter part of the year 186: I was severely afflicted with diseased liver, and many nights while in bed the pain would become so excruciating that I was compelled to get out of the bed and sit up until the pain would subside. I procured a few boxes of the Southern Hepatic Pills, and the first dose gave me great relief. I continued to use the Pills for two weeks, and have not suffered from liver disease since. I have recommended them accordingly, and several persons are in want of them."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

Are the most perfect purgative which we are able to produce, or which we think has ever yet been made by any body. Their effect have abundantly shown to the community how much they excel the ordinary medicines in use. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activity of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart a healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take, and, being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief, were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character, as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliabilities of our remedies, while others have sent us the assurance of their conviction that our Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of our afflicted, suffering fellow men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis our American Almanac, containing directions for the use, and certificates of their cures, of the following complaints:

Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism Dyspepsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from foul stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the bowels and pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Diseases which require an evacuant medicine. They cure, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations which they make more profit on. Demand AYER'S and take no others. The sick want the best and there is for them, and they should have it.

LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE old and well established

Ætna Company, of Hartford,

Offers superior inducements to all who wish to provide for family or friends.

All losses are promptly paid. No case of litigation has ever occurred with this Company. With assets of $2,300,000, it offers to receive one half of the premium in a note and half in cash, and, after the second year to credit each customer with the dividends of the Company, which are now 50 per cent. With a small outlay, $5000, or $10,000, or $20,000, may be secured to the family after their earthly providers are taken away. What father or husband would not feel the relief on his dying couch, that he had availed himself of every proper means to place those nearest and dearest to him, above the pinchings of want, and a life of dependence upon friends or charity? 8819 policies have been issued from the office ending Jan. 15, 1866. The total income for the year 1865 was $1,683,339 57; total disbursements $267 ✱ 5 24, leaving a balance to surplus fund of $1,155 244 33.

In Raleigh a large number have liberally responded and promptly acted in this matter; yet many delay, and may wait until it is too late. A man in this city lately left his place of business for his evening meal, well and healthy, but never reached that home except as he was carried there to die. Had that man taken the advice of the Agent, he might have left $5000 to minister to the necessities of a sorrowing family. Delays are dangerous procrastination destructive. But one says "If I only had confidence in the Company that it would pay, I would insure." Well, it never has failed to pay, and to-day is more responsible than ever before. It is patronized by some of the most sagacious minds in the land—men competent to detect and expose any deception if it existed.

BAUGH'S RAW BONE

Super-Phosphate of Lime.

BAUGH & SON'S,

MANUFACTURERS AND PROPRIETORS,

Store No. 20 South Delaware Avenue,

PHILADELPHIA.

THIS valuable Manure has been before the agricultural public, under one name or twelve years past, and its character for vigor of action and permanence in effect is well established. Before the war, it was introduced, to some extent, in the Southern States, and was found to be highly adapted to Cotton, Tobacco, and all Crops.

In its action, it is as quick as Peruvian Guano, while it does not leave the land in an exhausted state, but on the other hand permanently improves it. This has been fully proven by years of trial.

PROSPECTUS

OLD NORTH STATE.

"The Old North State Forever."

THE undersigned will commence the publication of a Daily and Weekly Newspaper, bearing the above title, in the city of Salisbury about the 10th of March next.

The Old North State will be under our control, a firm and decided Union paper. But while it will be firm and decided in its support of the Union, and of all just and necessary measures tending to its complete restoration, it will yet be liberal and conservative. It will oppose radicalism from whatever quarter it may come. Confiding in the loyal intentions of the great body of the people of North Carolina, it will endeavor to soothe the asperities of the past by promoting among them a spirit of reconciliation and harmony.

Rejecting the exploded dogma of paramount State sovereignty, it will cheerfully support the National government in the exercise of every power necessary to the maintenance of its rightful authority, while it will ever contend against any encroachments upon the reserved rights of the States.

It will discuss all the various political issues of the day, but in doing this it will seek to avoid everything like partizan bitterness or personal vituperation. It will also strive to avoid that detestable practice, so common among politicians, of pandering to the passions and appealing to the prejudices of the multitude in order to accomplish partizan ends. It will endeavor to enlighten and direct aright public sentiment, by disseminating correct information, and by arguments addressed to the understanding—in short it will endeavor to erect a high standard of political morality.

Its columns will be open for Political, Moral, Literary and Agricultural articles especially, and to the advertising public.

The Old North State will be printed on new type on the following

THE LOYALIST.

THE undersigned propose to publish in Louisburg, North Carolina, a newspaper under the above denomination. The LOYALIST, as its name imports, will yield a firm, uniform, and fearless support to the Constitution of the United States, and all laws enacted in pursuance of that great instrument. To the decisions of the Supreme Court of the nation, in such questions as originate in the interpretation or application of the principles involved in our federal jurisprudence of policy, the Loyalist will accord its unqualified acquiescence, as to the will of the American people, duly expressed through the only legitimate, determinate and sufficient medium. Its general politics will be those so long and so thoroughly taught by the patriotism, the eloquence, and the wisdom of Clay, and his departed compeers, and so fearfully vindicated by the present melancholy and helpless condition of the communities so recently arrayed in arms against the integrity and harmony of our national union.

The Loyalist would make the institutions and independence, the material and moral dignity of the nation, as enduring and as brilliant as the stars whose images adorn the field and the folds of its flag. The Loyalist will also dedicate its energies and exert its abilities to ascertain and cherish the interests, as well as to develope the immense resources of North Carolina. To the cause of education, the general diffusion of knowledge, the elevation of the masses, and the religious culture of all within its influence, it will be a consistent and inflexible friend. Its editorial department will be conducted by gentlemen whose names will be announced in due time.

The LOYALIST will be issued weekly, carefully printed, of the size of the Raleigh "Daily Sentinel," and furnished to patrons at $3 00 per annum, payable on delivery of the first number. Subscriptions and communications respectfully solicited.
